In my heart that's dried up and thirsting;
I took notice of it and suddenly stopped in my tracks.
In the street where everyone is busy,
I tried to walk a little more slowly.
It's a wish I won't vocalize (but) as long as it's with you,
I want it to come true.
Sometimes I feel like I want to cry. I'll close my eyes and think of "try."
However, you're here. I'm asking for love.
Whatever the time, my heart is here, with you.
Therefore, I'm here. I'm looking for love.
As long as it's the two of us, it'll change into gentle tears.
The dream will certainly come true.

(No matter) where you are and what you're doing,
I'm thinking about you.

I'm taking this blue sky of today and making it the color of our special day.
It's a prayer that won't become vocalized (but) I want to always be like this.
Until it makes failed love, people become stronger,
become more oppressive. Why?
I'm right here. I'm asking for love.
A miracle that belongs to only us, which lasts eternally.
And then so, I'm here. I'm looking for love.
Towards a never-ending future, we two will start walking together from here.

You will be here forever. Wishing for love.
The somebody for only me is you.
I'm over there. I'm looking for love.
It's on surprise that the ones shining together
are the two of us.
