can I hold this moment because I'm so scared of what the future holds trusting seems to be the hardest thing to do I pray my feelings won't run away with this when we see each other again will you trust it this time will you trust me this time so I wait for this to complete and I'll try to have faith that you are coming back to me hold my hand; we don't have to talk if you want to leave, please just kiss my cheek because the air tonight is lovely and I won't forget your face in the moonlight will you think of me or am I burden in your life can you look into these eyes and see the pain I feel inside

I am so weak in this state nothing I do gives me the strength my hands are reaching for the sky the beauty that comes from above will blanket and comfort me
