so will this be the last time or will you come and break my heart again every time you feel the need I'm always there for you and when you've had enough, you go you're own way have you ever stopped to think about the way I feel why won't you open your eyes look what's happened to us I'm never right, you're never wrong all I am is a burden to you

I've written so many different words to you but they all say the same thing I want to let go of your memory but I remember every time you (hurt me)

I tried to blow off every hurtful word I wonder if you even have a heart and I gave you the best of me but you wouldn't let me near your heart

I gave you the best of me

but they all say the same thing
I want to let go of your memory
but I remember every time you hurt me
