my eyes can't connect with your's your eyes and smile paralyze me my hands can't touch your face every expression on your face melts my heart I'd do anything to kiss your lips and wrap my arms around you I'd do anything to kiss your lips

everything about you makes my heart stop the way your hair falls; the way your lips move no one else would see everything that's happened it keeps us running backwards but I'd love to hold your hand every time you hurt and we could move ahead

the way your eyes gleam; the way your cheeks move

I know I'll never hold your hand or trace my fingers across your cheeks but I know I could live from here on in the hope your eyes give to me
