Eyes On You

Is it strange to lose your mind?
And will you come back to find what you left behind?
So take your words, swallow them whole
You're living now, but what's your goal?
You may be on a roll

I miss when you were human
'Cause now you're seemingly perfect
And that soul you have won't put down its guns
I miss when you were real
When words travel though you, do you feel?
A year ago your heart, it ran
Back when you were human

Piece your life together again
Once your time here is up and then
Where are all your friends?
Who do you call friends?
All good things must come crashing down
What did you sacrifice to hear the sound?
Your name it resounds

I miss when you could see me
Eyes on you, forget me
