Embrace yourselves,
she's trying to save the world.
Embrace yourselves,
she's trying to dig the hole.

Live in lies, we stormed upon,
the darkest moment we possessed
We live today,
we penalize the very meaning of this life,
She flipped her wings like a butterfly,
seeing this life with better light
Oh I've been neutralized,
She laughed at all the folks,
saying "is this life?"
and wondering if it's the truth we rely.
Oh I've been neutralized.

She'll crave...
And she'll fall.

Embrace yourselves,
she's trying to save the world.
Embrace yourselves,
she's trying to dig the hole.

Hypnotized by the way she acted,
we soon realize
how we'll be affected by the new plague, Sooner or later she'll find her way to break away from her self-afflicted rush.
"Hold up, will you leave me now,
I'm living this part of town."

Wondering if it's time to lie.
"Pass on, pass on now,
can't find the space and time."
Wondering if it's time to die.

She'll crave...
And she'll fall.

Embrace yourselves,
she's trying to save the world.
Embrace yourselves,
she's trying to dig the hole.

"I will leave," she said,
"...to leave this thought
at the bottom of my soul,
crying all, leaving all the pain."

"Cold... I can't stop this pain, it's killing me"
"I will leave." she said, "And I will fall today,
these momentary glimpses of this dark side unfolds,
Will you stop preaching to me, and I will leave this place,
This pain, this call..." And it's not safe, it's her call.
This pain, this call.

She couldn't face it with just herself...
She couldn't face it with just herself...

Try and save her world,
Her burden is the call,
Try and save her world.
