Still have the last note you left me.
It said "Sweetie, please don't ever stay too far from
me."
And when I drive by your old house
I still look for paint splashed on the street in the shape of our feet.

And well I can still feel you breathing on my neck.
And I can still taste you on my lips
On my lips.

Still have the last note you left me.
It said "Sweetie, please don't ever stay too far from
me."
And when I drive by your old house
I still look for paint splashed on the street in the shape of our feet.
