Friends are friends until they see gold
Friends are friends until they grow old Friends are friends who reach out their hands and before the arson take what they can

Making out like we overcome this life
Skeletons in the closet locked deep inside
Who holds the key I need to know, who holds the key

Friends are friends until they drive drunk
Friends are friends who are locked in my trunk
Friends are friends until they have sex
Complicate the pregnancy test

Reaching forward to overcome this life
Skeletons in the closet locked deep inside
Who holds the key I need to know
Who holds the key, I need it!

Caress the summer, where friends are weeds
Curse the summer, who choke on me
Caress the summer, I've fallen asleep
Curse the summer, to the sound of screams in a moment I'll cross this hill
To find my life is in pieces Cause in a moment my secret spills and Jill knows the end of my mind

Reaching out to you overcome this life

She might have held the key.....fuck
