Starlet emerges
I'm drenched to the bone in the rain

Climbing the tower
To find if heaven sent you down
To pull on me
Cause no one pulls on me
So why should you call
Should you call, on me?

I should have known
That you were a dream
God dont let me ever wake

A snow fall in view from the telescopes range out to sea
Two still in dreams while knee deep today in the sugar kane fields

Starlet tries, tries not to fall
Please dont hold me at all
Cause after your touch
I know I'd be
Forever in love
With my dream

Castles, can fill my heart with stone and weight
And now I know that youre out there,
Falling from star life
We all rise to orange
Now I give up my sword
If you lay down more
And stay here
With me
