Please don't go I need you here
Don't swallow one tear for a fear
Say soon I'll be more then ready
For the life I see in all of my dreams
Feel my heart as it beats faster with the rain
As this storms flame grows strong
I feel I can't go on

I'm looking back at this story
I can't believe that it all seemed so simple
Just trusting eyes that hold so many lies
Now I hear that they're over me
I can not see the care that they'd speak of
Or the love felt so deep in me
So quickly pushed from 1st to last
From new to past
It wasn't very long until everyone
Felt they were wrong
I'm not trusting her, I'm not trusting him
What happened to them when will this game end

To take account for all we've done
Through stressful times and all the fun
This bed we've made it still remains
A tangled web of circles
Now looking back to see they've won
Even though all right things were done
A shameless game tore all apart
A broken heart will leave it's mark

Left feeling like leftovers, Left over again
In this fight to be in
It's so in to be trendy and in to be this Alright to be unhappy as long as you fit in
Left over, Left over again
If you give into them this fight will never end
