I see surrender, I see defeat
On grounds of victory
And these moments turn into memories
Screams into echoes

I can see we're not perfect
There's a cause for every fate

There'd be no sinners
If there would be no saints

There's no jail without walls
No love without a cost
No war without loss
No tear that drops without a cause

There is no fire without smoke
No ashes without flames

There'd be no sinners
If there would be no saints

There's no jail without walls
No love without a cost
No war without loss
No tear without a cause
No love without cause
No love without a cost
No war without loss
And no tear that drops without a cause

Cause and effect
You give what you get

There's no jail without walls
No love without a cost
No war without loss
No tear without a cause
No love without cause
No love without a cost
No war without loss

And no tear that drops without a cause

There's no tear without a cause

There's no tear without a cause
