

Low Stars "Calling All Friends"

Visit "Calling All Friends" on MotoLyrics.com

Â...Strange isn't it. As limited as I feel I am in this department I lean towards this piece.

Calling all friends and people I met on the way down
Calling all friends and people I don't even know
Calling on high I want to believe there's a way now
I'm too tired to pretend I don't want to be alone

I'm calling all friends

Taken my time and trying to be what I wanted
Taken my chances when they came on the way
Taken there toll and nobody knows how I'm haunted
Things that I've done there isn't a price I can pay

I have been broken I've been low
You want to disappear and no one needs to know
I've been there I've been where no one seems to care

Calling all friends and people I met on the way down

Calling all friends and people I don't even know
Calling on high I want to believe there's a way now
I'm too tired to pretend I don't want to be alone

I'm calling all friends

I have been broken I've been low
You want to disappear and no one needs to know
I've been there I've been where no one seems to care

Calling all friends and people I met on the way down
Calling all friends and people I don't even know
Calling on high I want to believe there's a way now
I'm too tired to pretend I don't want to be alone
I'm too tired to pretend I don't want to be alone

I'm calling all friends

