What do you see child
Child what do you see
You're mom and dad are growin' old
One day you'll see them go
What do you see child
Child what do you see
What are you thinkin'
When you look at me

I'm a small child of 10 with a father and a
Brother
And a mother and a sister and we're bound to each
Other
A young man at fifteen he got wings on his feet
Dreamin soon now a lover he is gonna wanna meet

And at twenty it seems funny
My heart skips a beat
A promise I will keep
The vows that I repeat

At twenty five I have my own
A house and a home
To build for us alone

And at forty it feels funny
My heart skipped a beat
A promise I will keep
The vows that I repeat

At forty five I have grown
What is there to own
Except for life alone?

So open up your eyes
Cause time it only flies
Soon you'll be a man
Time can't understand

That you are still a child
It's what we all should be
Take a look you'll see
The child inside of me
