I know the only feeling you have is rage
And I know that I'd feel the same as you, but I think you'd better take a good look around you 'cause
You're so pissed you can't even find your drink

Sometimes it's wise
To know which way the gun is pointing
Before you yell, "I see the whites of their eyes."
Sometimes you'll find your senses all disjointed by
The lines and wires of salesmen, cheats and liars

Well she left, without one word of tenderness
And noone saw you cry but me
Your friends heard you say, "Good riddance, I'm better without her." but
'Fess up, you thought about diving into the Don

Sometimes it's wise
To know which way the car is going
Before you put your pedal down to the floor
Sometimes you'll find your senses all disjointed by
The lines and wires of salesmen, cheats and liars

Well, hello friend
I caught you laughin' again, but Don't worry, your secret's safe with me
It's so strange that everybody's so caught up in Worrying that they ain't what we want 'em to be
