R.Williams/Paris

After murder, we encounter the great mystery

That which surpasses the human experience, the human disease

Directly before, a moment or two after and essentially during murder - great mysteries revealed

Animal introduction, the first prehistoric urge instilled at birth

the first cries of freedom

If only from the womb

And birth and death do not end it

This transgression is perhaps the first

And final step in the evolutionary stage

Before and after reincarnation

Seen through the murderer's eyes...

The only true free spirit

Dark horse rider

Maggot's lair - blindness

The first incision fulfills the need for the last

Seen through animal eyes

And God's eye

Through the murderer's eye

The first incision fulfills the need...

And God's eye

The lord is my shepherd;

I shall always want

He maketh me to lie in wait for rapture

He leadeth me to vile waters, He destroyeth

my soul, He leadeth me in the path of blindness

for his name's sake

In the valley of the shadow of death

Thou appeareth before me

In robes of silicon and rust Thou doth defile me as no other has before thee
I fear all life-for thou art with me Thy rod and staff serve to defeat me
In the presence of mine enemies
Thou annointest my head with scalding oils
My blood runneth over Surely goodness and mercy shal Forsake me all the days of my life
And I shall dwell under ground, under foot Forever in the presence of mine enemies
