I see them coming from way over there
To witness the world's most alluring nightmare
Covered in black and filled with green
The most beautiful thing they've ever seen
A place of ease can cover pain
To them the road less traveled is a lie

Don't worry about me

Can you hear the crowds running to the one that I know?

The pyramid once again takes it's toll

Teaches every kid to say Rock and Roll
Live your life and all the pleasures in it
In this life the hours turn to minutes
The pleasures of life are too much for one shoulder
Try and drop the weigh you can't hold it
Why o why can't they see
The nail scarred hands that are waiting so patiently

The black pyramid will consume you
