Are we just wasting time? Or should we give up and die? Are we a voice without words? The limit always seems to be the sky and everybody close their eyes All the bodies shut their minds

Let me say: so won't you please find me?(repeat sevrel times)

No we're not wasting time And no we shouldn't give up and die You gave us a voice and we've got words It's time to rise up against the tide of words that kill Delete the lies See his eyes, not compromise

Let me say: so won't you please find me?(repeat sevrel times)
