I ain't no good no more
At being alone like I was before
Darling Girl, won't you call my name
Give me something to believe. Take away the pain
I want take out to the show
I want to kiss you while the bands play their rock and roll

Falling in love to the sounds of the city
All these streets lead me always back to you
No need to be shy; you're looking too pretty
Please tell me what should I do

It ain't sad, just the way it goes
What you do in this kind of place all alone
Now ain't time to be going home
If you stay, I think we'd get along
Me and my friends, we might not look like much
But we got the time and know when to push our luck

Falling in love to the sounds of the city
All these streets lead me always back to you
No need to be shy; you're looking too pretty
Please tell me what should I do

Just hold on to me, give me your hand

Everyone's watching. I don't give a damn
I just need you, need you to see
My heart's in my hands, asking you please Can't you hear the trains crossing over the seventh street bridge
Sound of the bars closing down and the kids
Don't want to go home but they can't stay here
Moon sinking low in the sky

It ain't sad, just the way it goes
What you do in this kind of place all alone
Now ain't time to be going home
Stay, I think we'd get along
Me and my friends, we might not look like much
But we got the time and know when to push our luck

Falling in love to the sounds of the city
All these streets lead me always back to you
No need to be shy; you're looking too pretty
Please tell me what should I do

Falling in love to the sounds of the city
All these streets lead me always back to you
No need to be shy; you're looking too pretty
Please tell me what should I do
Please tell me what should I do
