of all the birds in the sky you manage the highest and its so hard to see you from way down here

soaring over my head i am just a small scrub in your perfect picture of the way it should be but what I'd do for you green jay so close and so far away oh what I'd give for you green jay most days taking things in and spitting them back up oh how i understand this all too well

but id you nested in me oh how I'd keep you so safe from all the ugly creatures that want to eat ya

but i do too my green jay for all i ingest is you this way hey something good will come from me one day
