So here I'm standing all alone, independently on my own

Looking down, staring at my toes

What's up my head nobody knows

I'm still hurt but that's okay, I was stupid, what can I say?

They seem to screw up everytime

When it's all over, it rewinds

It never seems to come out right, come out right

So we'll just walk away and I guess that's alright

And I'm always left confused but I don't mind

Now don't you worry I'll be fine

You're so convincing so I see, it's in the way you look at me

Your smile just somehow hypnotizes - to simply see truth in your eyes

So it's you I once adored, I'm not a little girl no more

Cause I am used to these kinda games, they come and go again and again

It never seems to turn out right, turn out right

So we'll just end it here and I guess that's alright

And now I'm all alone but I don't mind

It's better get away I'll be fine.
