Sitting watching the waves roll back and forth
And everything is beautiful, for a moment
Sitting watching the clouds as they touch my nose
And everything's unnatural, for a moment

High above,
Too far away to hear me crying
If I forget this love
I don't have to think of why I'm dying

Lying down watching T.V. I get so numb
From all those stupid shows that just seem to wear me down
Listening to the droning beats of the radio
My mind has drifted somewhere else, I don't even know

High above,
Too far away to hear me crying
If I forget this love
I don't have to think of why I'm dying

You know I'm dying too
You know I'm dying too

You see I made a chain reaction, yeah
Of multiple distractions
You see I made a chain reaction, yeah

High above,
Too far away to hear me crying
If I forget this love
I don't have to think of why I'm dying
