I'm sick of all the things that come with growing up
Take responsibility they say
Your futures looking up
So many differant ways to live your life these days
But don't be so afraid
With God things will be ok
Through the years I've concluded that growing up sux
You're old enough to know what's right
You gotta stand
Put up a fight against the world and it's beliefs
You're sick and tired of all their grief
Differant problems everyday they just don't go away
These days are passing by Fun times are flying by
Through the years I've concluded that growing up sux
