"Ride On"

There's a feel of waking up in a hole
When your sky is about to rock all you know
Then you find yourself far away from the sun
There's a lot of things to learn
Ride on

So you lose everything you own, lifelong soles
And you find your ways become more than lust
Then you rise above to find new things to hold
There are lot of songs unheard
Ride on

Feel a waking of yourself
Every feeling is sacred
Thinking of your mind in the past
Evolve, save then break it
It's how you're changing all your ways to fight the time
that's waiting
For you to ride

So you lost your love and you're down to the ground
Crawling all the way around, crying loud
And you find yourself with nowhere to bound
There's a lot of love unfound
Ride on

Feel a waking of yourself
Every feeling is sacred
Thinking of your mind in the past
Evolve, save then break it
It's how you're changing all your ways to fight the time
that's waiting
For you to ride

And I'm a beggar waiting for a sign
Answers to the questions of mine
Burdens of walking the line
I'm a man in a search of a soul of his own
