With tears in our eyes we cannot Disguise the pain that we feel
Trying to find some peace within
But all for nothing as I'm conquered in sin...
I'm trying to run...
I'm losing control
Thinking of my troubles at home...
Can't they just leave me alone?

Tell me
What do you want from me?
I'm already on my knees
... So...
Please
Please leave me alone I already have troubles of my own

Living in a shadow ... full with fear...
All I want is both of you so near...

Tell me
What do you want from me?
I'm already on my knees
... So...
Please
Please leave me alone I already have troubles of my own

Silly things happen
Just don't let it threaten
The hopes and dreams

I'm so tired of hearing the same old story
I literally don't give a fuck no more
All I want to do is walk out that door
I'm not a quitter

No I ain't
But that doesn't mean I'm a god damn saint

A home isn't just a structure of stone

It's a place where peace can atone
A place where one would go and find comfort
And kiss his kids good night
Not a place to have a fight
Tell your kids everything's gonna be alright
Just your voices break away
How do you expect for me to stay
But guess what...
After witnessing
Everything contrary of what you
Had me believing
I'm done... you lost your son

Tell me
What do you want from me?
I'm already on my knees
... So...
Please
Please leave me alone I already have troubles of my own

Oh my god my dreams are broken
Taken away
Taken away
By you
Tell me
What do you want from me?
I'm already on my knees
... So...
Please...
Please...
Please
Please leave me alone I already have troubles of my own
