Who knows, who knows

How it will be tomorrow

I had a dream about it

It was so clear

You know, you know

How it was yesterday

I had to think about it

And she'd a tear

Wasn't it enough to watch them die

A million times

In their eyes and in their child

You saw yourself

Over the hill, there's another one still to climb

Up, up, up

Behind the wall, there's another one waiting to fall

Down

The rabbit warren doesn't end until it's gone.

Over the hill, behind the wall
