Early one Christmas morning
ever so long ago.. brightness of stars are falling down on the earth below...

Shepherd's and wise mens together offered their treasures its told but yet there was one so humble who gave neither silver nor gold..

I am just a lonely shepherd boy
no earthly riches have I
but the love and devotions I give thee
will last till the waters run dry..

The gifts of the shepherd's and wise men all to the ashes have gone but the love of the humble shepherd boy still on this Christmas lives on.

I am just a lonely shepherd boy
no earthly riches have I
but the love and devotions I give thee
will last till the waters run dry.
