Sometimes I have to wonder
Can you hear me, hear me calling out?
So tell me where to find you
I forget you, but I don't know how

You hold on, you let go
Say you will, but I know you won't be there
And it's always the same, and it's never enough
And I keep falling down 'cause I can't give up
'Til my heart hits the ground, I'll be falling down

Some days I have to miss you
It makes me wonder why I wear this crown
You leave me more than lonely
More than broken, I just can't be found

You hold on, you let go
Say you will, but I know you won't be there
And it's always the same, and it's never enough
And I keep falling down 'cause I can't give up
'Til my heart hits the ground, I'll be falling down

I know you're out there tonight
Somewhere far away
I'm still here wanting you
Searching for words to say
I know you're out there

You hold on, you let go
Say you will, but I know you won't be there
And it's always the same, and it's never enough
And I keep falling down 'cause I can't give up
'Til my heart hits the ground, I'll be falling down

You hold on, you let go
