I was sitting in my window and It was cold outside I was sitting in my window when I saw you on the street I was gonna kill you 'cause you made me mad 'cause there was anger raging through my soul!

so, I got my knife
I was gonna kill you I was gonna follow you for blocks!
'cause I tracked you and I stabbed you and I hurt you and I killed you you were gonna die, you were gonna cry I was gonna laugh feel so good inside!

blood that fills the golden bowl ! so, I tracked you inot the alleyway I stabbed your back ripped your heart right out of your chest I throw it on the ground and watch it squish It squishes then I smear your blood all over my face put your veins and arteries all over my face make a necklace out of them!

YEAH!

with each stab, more life I take I know this death is no mistake the flesh and bones which now grow bare I will not leave a breath to spare nno remorse, no mistakes this life of yours is mine to take the deed is done my sin is fun your blood I drink, to make us one!
I touch your corpse one more time my love for evil is no crime my bones will rot for eternity red death, last breath
