you're what keeps me awake and you're what lets me sleep
you live inside me, yet you're miles away you make me remember, you make me forget you take me places that i've never been i wanna scribble your name on this page until it rips right through i wanna hold you so hard you can't move let's break the rules, let's make a new game let's ignore the hypocrites who cares what they say let's satiate this thing together... you are ancient you are youth, sweet dichotomy you're the drug and you're the cure, so enticing so alive that it kills me every time you're so dumb just like me, yet still so wise i wanna scream i love you until i lose my voice i want you more than anyone and it's not my choice let's break the rules, let's make a new game

together...
