

Lunik "Prisoner"

Visit "Prisoner" on MotoLyrics.com sunday afternoon and I just went for a walk back in my cocoon I miss our silly talks it's so hard to let you go though there's no reason I should hold you back I'm glad we said good-bye monday morning another week is taking off and I remember the night we met the first time when you said: "gotta light?", I saw your smile and I fell for you right away that's when I lost my mind- I'm reliving it every day you didn't stay, I didn't die my life will go on a new day has begun without you I'm tryin not to glorify it wasn't always fun after a while I'll even forget your smile it's friday and I'm hanging 'round in bars with some friends suddenly it hits me that you never met them of course, it would be nice to have you here with us I gotta resist the urge to call to hear your voice

you didn't stay, I didn't die
my life will go on
a new day has begun without you
I'm tryin not to glorify
it wasn't always fun

I was yours, I called you mine a little loan for a little time I was tempted to keep it I was struck all of a heap but the shadows in your eyes, made me realize that you're in disguise chorus

Visit Lunik page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.

