Some like it hot, some like it cold
I like it best when it's untold
When I feel sad and when I feel down
Then I'll wish you were around

What am I supposed to believe
Is it that you really love me

Turn down the lights now, it's all been said
The troubles that come and go
You took my heart and threw it away
You left me out in the rain

What am I supposed to believe
Is it that you really love me
Just you wait, you wait and see
I will be there to love you

Oh, it's hard
So hard to live a life on your own
After you've known how it could be
With you and me

Won't you come home to me
You could make everything all right
You could warm me through the coldest night
And make it all right, all right

What am I supposed to believe
Is it that you really love me
Just you wait, you wait and see
I will be there to love you

What am I supposed to believe
Is it that you really love me
Just you wait, you wait and see
I will be there to love you

What am I supposed to believe
Is it that you really love me
Just you wait, you wait and see
I will be there to love you
