I can hear your voice and I have no choice
Cos the pain's too deep inside
And the hurt of love that was lost has been cured
With the love of another heart

And friends try and say that we'll all get better
They say that they know how you feel
But your heart isn't sure cos it knows what it heard
All the things that it read in a letter

Ooh, and all the words of wisdom
Never seem to ease the pain
And all the words of wisdom sound the same
They all sound the same
They all sound the same

All the lies of kindness, all that's sweet and free
But you pay the price with the joy that it brings Cos you hear the sound of her name

The morning tries to save you
From the shadows of your heart
You dance and kiss as you reminisce
And it's tearing you apart
Oh, and all the words of wisdom
They never seem to ease the pain
And all the words of wisdom sound the same

I can hear your voice and I have no choice
Cos the pain's too deep inside
And the hurt of love that was lost has been cured
With the love of another heart

Then your friends try and say that we'll all get better
They say that they know how you feel
But your heart isn't sure cos it knows what it heard
All the things that it read in the letters

Oh, and all the words of wisdom
They never seem to ease the pain
All the words of wisdom sound the same
all the words of wisdom

They never seem to ease the pain
And all the words of wisdom sound the same
All the words of wisdom sound the same
They all sound the same
They sound the same, ooh
