

Luti-Kriss

"What A Place To Find One's Divinity"

Visit "What A Place To Find One's Divinity" on MotoLyrics.com

She says it's cold outside but she doesn't want to put on her coat
She says it's gona mess up the look that she's going for tonight
Isn't it funny what girls will sacrifice just to look beautiful if just for a few hours time

And everyone watched you as you entered the room
And everyone watched you watching the sky hoping that this night would somehow never end
And you wouldn't have to say "hey call me tomorrow," and say "farewell"

There's just something about the way that she moves All eyes are fixed on her trying to catch a glance of the charm in her eyes
She takes a sip of her drink and leaves a lipstick mark on the rim of her glass Then her eyes look up at me and I wonder how I could deserve this much
I didn't know dreams could be this real
I swear I've been waiting for you my whole life
I didn't know dreams could be this real

And everyone watched you as you entered the room
And everyone watched you watching the sky hoping
that this night would somehow never end
And you wouldn't have to say "hey call me tomorrow," Let's just clench our fists and hold on as tightly as we can
As tightly as we can

Visit Luti-Kriss page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.