(Liz Anderson)

I'll be the woman that you want tomorrow
I've got too many things to do today
Tomorrow I'll have lots of time to love you And so I let it go another day.

I'd give you more the love you need tomorrow
Say all the words you wanted hear me say
Then somewhere in your lonely waiting hours
You packed your hungry heart and went away.

One of wonderful things that our love would have bring tomorrow
What a pity that our dreams didn't stay around to see
tomorrow
But your love's gone away and our dreams bout us too
There's so many things that I intended to do.

I'm alone with the love that I meant to give to you
tomorrow
Yes, you're gone with today and our dreams 'bout us too
There's still so many things that I contented to do
I'm alone with the love that I meant to give to you
tomorrow...
