Space is colder
than the air in the mountains where I come from The air in the mountains
where I come from

For years I drifted
Further and further
into the unknown
Further and further
into the unknown

(Holly McNarland)
And I wonder
where have you gone
And I wonder
what have you done?
What have you done?

Space is older than the air moving in and out of your lungs
The air moving in and out
of your lungs

For years I've drifted
the math of a divinity
that goes on and on
the math of a divinity
that goes on and on

(Holy McNarland)
And I wonder
where have you gone?
And I wonder
what have you done?
What have you done?
