(Craig Bickhardt)

Where I used to have a heart
Feel like a mile wide ditch
I got a hole inside
The doctor just can't stitch
Gone without a trace
You left a hollow place
There's not a stone to mark
Where I used to have a heart

There were times when I would hold you
And feel the pounding in by chest
Now I'm just as empty
As a canyon way out west
That's how deep I love you
Babe, I love you still
To the bottom of this space
I'll never fill

Where I used to have a heart
Feel like a mile wide ditch
I got a hole inside
The doctor just can't stitch
Gone without a trace
You left a hollow place
There's not a stone to mark
Where I used to have a heart

I guess I'll learn to live with A different kind of pain
I'm suffering from a sickness
That I cannot give a name
Such a strange sensation
I've never felt before
Missing you has cut me to the core

Where I used to have a heart
Feel like a mile wide ditch

I got a hole inside
The doctor just can't stitch
Gone without a trace
There's not a stone to mark
Where I used to have a heart

Where I used to have a heart
