Closing the book I was reading and putting down the bread I was nibbling, I open the window and notice
That a single feather has fallen on the windowboard.
Nobody knows where the dreams of children disappeared

Oo wohoo wohoo wohoo
I'll go to look for them
Oo hoo hoo hoo
I'll go and save them

I gently put a blanket over the sleepless nights of children
Who live in lands that hate each other
And cities that hurt each other.
I'm staying awake. I'm right here so don't worry

Oo wohoo wohoo wohoo
I'm watching over you so don't worry
Oo hoo hoo hoo
I'm by your side so don't worry
Oo hoo hoo hoo
Oo hoo hoo hoo

Kafka once said "if the whole World fights against you..."
If the whole World ever fought against me,
If that ever happened
I think I would ally myself with the world of my enemy

Oo wohoo wohoo wohoo
I think I'd throw away everything and fight
Oo hoo hoo hoo
I think I'd throw away my weapons and fight
Oo hoo hoo hoo
I think I'd throw away everything and fight
Oo hoo hoo hoo
I think I'd throw away my weapons and fight
