Into the Sea we'd wade forward with hope and ease
And no trace of memory
Our Sun that watches high above so fervently
Would shine Prophetically
Into the Sea we move forward with hope and ease
And no trace of memory
How long had we been sleeping?
And in our Dreams had we envisioned what would come to pass?
But I see Now I see
Into the night we'd move forth with certainty
And no trace of memory
Our Sun that watches high above so fervently
Would shine Prophetically
How long had we been sleeping?
And in our Dreams had we envisioned what would
come to pass?
We'd watch the planets realign to form a Circle of Security
While we Radiate
But I see I see
Now I can see
(And my eyes are Open)
Silence rains like Hail down before me
The words lost in my throat again
Silence reigns like hell all around me
The words burned in my throat again
The words lost in my throat again
Let it roll across the shore
Sweet Euphoria
(Come on and Speak to Me)
