Inspiring, shining, rising and when you're in my way
I'm not dividing me from you 'cause we're working together
Perfect in its splendor like the currents of the weather
The splinter in my center hindering all of my pleasure
Re-manifested as you in this endeavor
Once responsibility is taken I can render Experience to be however I wanna remember

Time and time again we fall
In to the depths of who we are
But you can't keep running away
From what you're trying defy

Put yourself through the scariest of scenarios
Enter experiences you normally wouldn't dare to go
It's all for the character and the arrogant afterglow
Of knowing it's appearance according to your patterns of growth

And what your parents handed down to you to handle
Make sure you carry torches when they're puttin' out your candles
Mere predictions can be unkind but unwind them still Don't erase the part of you that's responsible for your will

Time and time again we fall
Into the depths of who we are
But you can't keep running away
From what you're trying defy

Time and time again we fall
Into the depths of who we are
But you can't keep running away
From what you're trying defy

Well I've seen you and those things you do
And the way you hide that shadow can't be good for you
Your dark defines your light

There's some utterly damaged particles to deal with
And if I stutter I'm sorry but it's hard to feel swift When stuck in my stomach is a cannon ball anchor to lift
I've been pushing it down pretending it doesn't exist

Well this is what happens when you're pissed about being pissed
You dig yourself so deep you resist just to resist
And there's no way to get back experiences you missed
So start right now today and risk furiousness for bliss

Time and time again we fall
Into the depths of who we are
But you can't keep running away
From what you're trying defy

Time and time again we fall
Into the depths of who we are
But you can't keep running away
From what you're trying defy

Time and time again we fall
Into the depths of who we are
Time and time again we fall
Into the depths of who we are

But you can't keep running away
From what you're trying defy
You just can't keep running away
From what you're trying defy
