If I lost it all in a fireball would you be there for me?
If the moneys gone and the future falls would you walk away?
Cause my confidence is vanishing will you leave me starving here
To wither down and disappear as you walk away?

Then just let me go,
Let me live...
Just leave me alone.
Buried here next to love on my own.

I'll never trust, never feel, never love again, with just this bitter taste in myself

They always say true love is all you need,
But my true love is gone can we go on?
They say true love will never leave
But my true love is gone, and I can't go on

I'm in the catacombs of a broken heart where you used to be
When I loved you for all the reasons that you hated yourself
Cuz you were desperate and pathetic but just as beautiful to me
As the day you left and I became just a memory

Let me go,
Let me live
Just leave me to lay buried here next to love on my own.

I'll never trust, never feel, never love again, I chose this bitter taste in myself

They always say true love is all you need
But when true love is gone can we go on?
They say true love will never leave
But my true love is gone, and I can't go on

Now It's 2 am and I'm picturing the way things used to be

But all I see is you looking at him like you used to look at me

They always say true love is all you need
But when the love is gone can we go on?
They say true love will never leave
But my true love is gone, and I can't go on

I can't go on...
