I can paint a thousand pictures with the colors of your eyes

Emotions running wild, if not to my surprise

But whoa, your tears are forming puddles that are deep enough to drown

Just scream and hope for the best

(Sit down on the ground and we're going to watch the fire burn)

Praying that tomorrow provides answers to this test

Just scream and hope for the best

(Take it from me, leave me sorry)

Borrowing my mindset will not leave you laid to rest

I'm staring at old photographs in a wallet I once wore

Never knowing phantoms haunt my dreams

Don't try to feel the way I feel today

The pressure's killing me, I'm close to near insanity

Don't try to feel the way I feel

Too hard to take in, hard to follow

And difficult to bear the pain that follows

(Take it from me, leave me sorry)

It's all a lie, I hope you die

Right outside.
