The weather's variable so are you changes, changes
But I can't do a thing about the weather
Do you have your ticket?
Can you foresee changes, changes?

Another time when we might be together
You have a broken window
Through which the rain pours in my ear
This week's been all ears and edges, it's getting like a career

A chain of events, a change of heart
A chain of events, a change of heart
I will study your change of heart in depth

The weather's variable so are you changes, changes
But I can't do a thing about the weather
Do you have your ticket?
Can you foresee changes, changes?

Now you're leaning on a fountain
With the sunshine on your shoes
You dislike the climate but you like the place
I hope you learn to live with what you choose

A chain of events, a change of heart
A chain of events, a change of heart
I will study your change of heart in depth

I'm so changeable, it's so frightening
