Come out of our corners
Keep moving, keep changing, start working together
We can change this world by changing ourselves
Make our hands one hand
Resist and realize
We are not isolated by distance
But by the fear of the consequences of honesty
Too scared to look inside ourselves
But eager to change the world
Never breaking the silence between you and me
We talk of universal peace
Whilst we fight internal wars
Ireland, El Salvador, battles to win
But the real revolution starts within
All of our differences deep and wide
Are the differences that we build inside
(Repeat as round)
And whilst we keep that space between us all
They keep invading and they keep control
