"All You Ask"

Close your eyes, try to get some sleep
It's been a long long night
A clear blue sky and a warm summer's morning
Is coming up at first light
Don't be scared if that nightmare takes flight
I'll be right here with you

All you want is one simple restful night
So there's some point to this sleeping
Yes all you ask is one simple peaceful night
Where you wake up without weeping

And you've lost all your fear

On a night like this
Where so much has been broken,
And not a word was spoken to you
Like a feather on the breath of the morning
Will never touch the ground,
Unless it's found,
Just like you

All you want is one simple restful night
So there's some point to this sleeping
Yes all you ask is one simple peaceful night
Where you wake up without weeping

And you've lost all your fear
