There was a time you made me believe
That I'd receive
Something that would hold,
And wouldn't leave me cold.
And there was a line
You made me cross
So the two of us
Would have the strength to bare
The crosses we couldn't share
But nothing hurts now.
That didn't hurt before.
So I won't pretend
That it was the end of the world.
'Cause nothing hurts now.
No...
There was a time
I made you smile.
And for a while
I was beautiful to you.
I was beautiful like you.
But these things often pass,
And for you, they just wouldn't last.
So I was first to know
When you had to go.
But nothing hurts now.
That didn't hurt before.
So I won't pretend,
That it was the end of the world,
'Cause nothing hurts now.
No nothing hurts now.
That didn't hurt before.
So I won't pretend,
That it was the end of the world,
'Cause nothing hurts now
No nothing hurts now
