

Magnet "Wish Me Well"

Visit "Wish Me Well" on MotoLyrics.com

Well, it's been a long, long while
Almost a year now to the day
Since I was sent on my way

I got a place to stay
Down in that old suburban high-rise
Where the first timer buys

Every day is overcast
And the trains are always late
My head is somewhere in the past
So I hang around and wait for time to pass

It's probably my mistake
And certainly no one else's heartache
I'm just another one to break

But a boy can get so confused
When there is nothing left to lose
I guess it's just my luck

That every lie I've tried to buy
Was never up for sale
These sour times weigh heavy
And have already tipped the scale

My oh my and hallelujah
Cross my heart and hope to die
I can swear my luck is changing

It's a welcome stranger here
'Cause I'm running out of change
For my wishing well
So wish me well, wish me well

Wish me well
Wish me well
Wish me well

Visit Magnet page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.

