Listen

Collect your thoughts, don't hide

If you

Can't face yourself, collide

The blue sheet of sky

Dazzles your eyes

And leaves you

Slumped against the night

They captured you, chopped off your hand

Left for dead

And buried your body in sun-soaked sand

Fly home

Is there patience where you think?

Only empty arms to take you in

Pale luminescent glare

Surrounds you 'til you can't see it's there

Uncoiled flag below the wind

A torn head

You can't come out 'cause you're so far in

Fly home

Ancient in the image cast

Reminds you the future's like the past

Time split into equal spheres

Hauntin' you, usin' up your fears

Something hateful in your head

Then kick it out

You're skull and heart but your wings are dead

Fly home
