You say you'd give anything to know You say you'd live anyway to go you're reaching for the stars, careful what you wish for what's the price you'll pay, it may come to you

Who's to say, if you had the chance, you would Would you be content if you realized you could

Do you really want to know, who is the keeper of your soul...

So there is no way to get out and you've just been played the fool Sad to realize it isn't what it seems and your innocence has been lost within the scheme

You're reaching for the stars, careful what you wish for
Makes me wonder why we dream for it all Time to open your eyes, before you step to fall

Do you really want to know, who is the keeper of your
soul
For a price you give it all, who is the keeper of your soul

[solo]

They'll say you're the reason for it all and the bigger they make you, the harder you'll fall You're reaching for the stars, careful what you wish for

Do you really want to know, who is the keeper of your
soul
For a price you give it all, who is the keeper of your soul....
