"Leave The City"

it broke my heart to leave the city i mean it broke what wasn't broken in there already but all my great reasons for leavin' now i can't think of any it's true was a hard time that i come through and i'm still thankful for the blues half my life spent on a highway half my life i didn't choose i have seen the north star shining in the freightyard and i knew it was a hard time but it came through it made him thankful for the blues it broke my heart to know you waiting i had so many things to do it's true as far as a lot of stuff you could have had a little better luck but with you i'm not givin' up tonight i'm not givin' up
