if could follow my whole life's track i'd still be here at the crossroads dear my broken heart has never left half the time it took half my life to have half the right to say nothing ever makes it home and takes the blue star highway (x2)
if today your left with nothing be thankful your not left with less some of us only lose the dark to get lost in darkness red crescent moon you can lay the latern down i'm back where you join hands with the blue highway now if i could have my heart come back and be forgiven for them old days i'd be headed where id always been down the wrong road both ways(x2)
